About Us...

Located in the Village of Scotia, the Joan Nicole Prince Home (JNP) provides 24-hour bedside care for two residents who are at the end of life and do not have an adequate caregiving system to remain in their own home. In a home-like environment and staffed primarily by volunteers, laundry, meals, personal care, cleaning, comfort and support are given to the residents and their families. The volunteers and staff of the Home serve as the surrogate family.

The JNP Home is not a medical facility and is owned and operated by the Schenectady Community Home, Inc. The Home collaborates with the local hospice program which provides the medical management along with other program services. The JNP Home is funded through donations and fundraising events; it is not reimbursed by Medicaid, Medicare, insurances, nor receives state or federal funding. Please join us in providing safe end of life care to the terminally ill individuals of our community who at this time in their life are so vulnerable.

The Schenectady Community Home, also known as the Joan Nicole Prince Home, is named after Niskayuna native, Joan Nicole (Keating) Prince. She was a loving mother of four who lost her battle with cancer and in her honor her husband gave a notable donation which allowed the Home to open in 2006.
